STORY

« Three years ago, the track got resurfaced, so some of its famous bumps still remain here and there but are less pronounced than before. It used to be a minefield! The bumps would cause strong vibrations that our feet could never be stable on the pedals. I remember at the time, with Team ORECA, Bruno (Senna) would suffer from headaches due to those vibrations! Yet I like this track. I regularly get to drive there both for races and test sessions, particularly with Toyota. The track is quite hilly. »
Nicolas Lapierre, ORECA 07's development driver

ONE FACT ABOUT THE TRACK
